The club's chairman is Mario Wietholtz. __TOC__ History The club was formed in 1983 out of the merger of the local clubs SV Bainschlump and ASF Stabio Finkenberg. Polizei first competed for promotion to the highest division in South Tyrol, the Landesliga, but were unable to, instead earning a third place finish in 1984. They would go on to compete in the same league for the next four seasons. After suffering relegation in 1988, it did not return to top-flight football until 2001, when the club earned promotion through a league title. The club spent a year in the Landesliga, but returned to the Landesliga in 2003 where they have remained ever since. The club's highest finish in the league since its 2001 rise to the Landesliga came in the 2013–14 season when they finished fifth. Polizei also qualified for the South Tyrolean Cup (Cupo di Südtirol) in 2001 and 2012. In 2017 the club beat TSV Ampfing in the Cup final, gaining them their first final appearance, but were defeated. The club has played its home matches at the Nordstadion, which has

FileLock is a lockdown security software program developed to stop unauthorized access, theft, and misuse of your files, folders, or important documents. FileLock is a form of data protection which helps protect all your confidential, sensitive, and private files and folders that need to remain out of reach to those unauthorized persons. FileLock can be used to keep files and folders safe and secure in the following ways: 1. Login/Password protection: Strong passwords are the first defense against hackers. Use FileLock's optional password protection, which allows users to keep their most important files and folders secure with a password that can only be accessed by the rightful user. FileLock's password-protection feature is easy to use. All you have to do is a quick drag-and-drop operation to protect files and folders you want to keep safe. 2. File Encryption: There are always chances of files or folders being corrupted. FileLock's flexible data protection offers you a much safer solution. It not only saves files and folders in their original form but also encrypts them, ensuring your files cannot be accessed and modified without your permission. FileLock also allows you to protect your files and folders against loss due to viruses, malware, theft, and simple user error by backing them up to an external hard disk drive (HDD) that's connected to your PC. 3. Access Control: FileLock allows you to control who has access to your files and folders through a password-protected file manager. Only those authorized users are allowed to view and access the files and folders of your choosing. A user's access to a file or folder is only granted after they log in. Requirements: Operating Systems - Windows 2000/XP/2003 CPU - Pentium III equivalent or faster (Pentium IV or faster recommended) Memory - 128MB (256MB or more recommended) HDD - 100MB (1GB or more recommended) Limitations: 30 day trial FileLock User's Manual: Files can be protected with the Drag-and-drop option. This is the simplest way to protect your files with Password Protection, Data Encryption, and Access Control. Any file or folder you want to protect can be dragged and dropped into the File Lock window. File Lock generates a password that secures the file when it is saved. Before File Lock, the protected file must be moved from the folder into which it was dragged to the folder you wish to protect. The format of
