The City of Durham is working to comply with a federal order that prohibits the city from using orange plastic or orange tape for stop signs, said the city's director of public safety, Kevin M. Johnson. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) on Nov. 20, 2017, the public safety rule is a final rule that requires all contractors, subcontractors, or suppliers to provide "clear signage" and "vehicle-approaching-signal combination" at all "intersections and traffic-control devices." The rule also applies to all state and local highway agencies. The city said all plastic signs are white and painted with black text and indicate a stop sign. Johnson said the city is working with the Durham County Sheriff's Office and the Durham Police Department to notify all intersection and traffic-control devices that orange tape is prohibited. The city is using a combination of signals in the county's right of way to warn motorists of approaching vehicles. Durham Police have posted a list of prohibited signs and logos on its Facebook page. "We will continue to work with all agencies to ensure compliance is maintained on all applicable signs," the city said in a statement. The Durham Police Department said the City of Durham is notifying the department of the list of all prohibited signs and logos. Departments are required to review the list and maintain signage that meets the law.

Evaluation of a modified skinfold caliper. This study compared the new Braswell Skinfold Caliper with the Kelly Skinfold Caliper and a tape caliper. The accuracy and precision of the new caliper were evaluated by measuring the skinfolds of the right and left sides of 60 men and women and comparing the values to those measured by the other calipers. There were no significant differences among the skinfold caliper measures of skinfolds for any individual. At a distance of 2 cm from the umbilicus, the new Braswell skinfold caliper had the highest accuracy and precision. All skinfold caliper measures demonstrated greater precision at shorter distances (2 cm from biceps) than at longer distances (12 cm from iliac crest). The new caliper demonstrated accuracy and precision at all skinfold levels.
