Hn-m101mbb seagate The present invention relates to a process for the production of a nitrile compound. More particularly, the invention relates to a process for the production of a nitrile compound by the dehydration condensation reaction of an amine compound and an organic cyanide compound in the presence of a dehydration catalyst. Among the compound groups of great industrial value, the nitrile compounds constitute a very important group having broad applications, for example, in the fields of dyes, pharmaceuticals and agricultural chemicals, due to their excellent properties. It is, therefore, possible to apply the compound groups to a great variety of products, for example, as an intermediate for the preparation of medicine such as synthetic anticoagulant or antithrombotic, and as a dyestuff for coloring cotton, paper, synthetic fibers, etc. There are known processes for producing a nitrile compound by reacting amines with organic cyanide compounds. As the amines to be reacted, aliphatic amines such as cyclohexylamine, oleylamine, lauramine, stearylamine and palmitylamine, or aromatic amines such as phenethylamine, diphenylamine, nitrophenylmethylamine, m-phenylenediamine, p-phenylenediamine and alkyl-substituted phenylenediamine, are employed. The organic cyanide compounds which are used are aromatic cyanide compounds such as aniline and benmidine, or aliphatic cyanide compounds such as methylamine, ethylamine 3e33713323
