What's New In Wadja Mobile Editor?

Wadja is a simple mobile and Internet tool, which allows you to create and edit mobile phone web pages. You can create, test, publish and edit your web pages with your own personalized phone number - even upload them on the Internet. It is a free software for personal use. Like all Wadja's products, it is a non-pro version but it is very simple and useful for desktop use. Creating a Web Page with Wadja

Mobile: Before using Wadja Mobile, you must install the Wadja Desktop edition. This is a Microsoft.NET application, so before installation it will have to download.NET Framework files from the Internet. To create or edit a website for mobile phone, you can use Wadja Desktop and simply select the mobile page that you want to create or edit. Then set the tags for your cell. You can create and edit both the general HTML and the Java platform pages. By default the mobile page is displayed on the screen in what is called a 'generic view', which represents a normal page. By pressing F5 you can see the page as if you were on the mobile phone. Mobile pages are displayed in a compact view. This allows your guests to see some large texts so that they can easily read your page. Then you create the webpage as you would normally do in a desktop browser. To edit your page, you can simply modify it as you want it. For example, if you want to make a change to your page and save it, you simply highlight the page to edit it, place the cursor on the spot where you want it to be and press Ctrl-S. This will save your changes. If you want to view the page from your mobile phone, you simply need to load the page with your web browser, type your website address and hit Enter. You can then use your mobile phone to browse your page as if you were using a desktop browser. Note: there is no need to upload your pages to the Internet. You only need to use your phone's Internet. Notes: If you decide to use Wadja Desktop, you can choose to work in a generic view or in a compact view. In compact view, the text is shown in smaller letters. This is useful when people are using your page on their mobile phone. You can be connected to the Internet to access websites and use other Internet services. You can check or modify the internet availability of your phone with the My
