Possible Duplicate: Should you limit your music library to the tracks you really like? Recently, I'm testing android app, when I run the code, I found: Logcat: IllegalStateException: Could not execute method for android:onClick (null) and line 41 is: startActivity(new Intent(listViewFriends.getContext(), MyMusic.class)); How can I find out whether I need to add more music track to my app? If I add more, do I need to change the code? A: If you just want to have different songs in the music app, you could use 3 differents listViews for the 3 differents activities. Low-dose radiotherapy as an adjuvant in the treatment of prostate cancer. In the present work an attempt was made to evaluate the possible additional benefit of low-dose radiotherapy (RT) in the postoperative management of localized prostate cancer (PC). Data for the 108 patients participating in the present study were collected and retrospectively analyzed, with special attention being paid to the details of the surgical treatment (open versus laparoscopic) of the PC. Laparoscopic surgery was performed in 45 cases, whereas the remaining 63 underwent traditional open surgery. All patients received postoperative RT of 20 Gy, regardless of the surgical method used. The median follow-up was 7 years, during which time 49 local relapses (10/63 patients in the laparoscopic group and 39/45 in the open group) and 3 metastatic relapses (3/63 patients in the laparoscopic group and 0/45 in the open group) were observed. The authors were able to demonstrate that the addition of adjuvant

Prenatal screening for cystic fibrosis: analysis of referral patterns and assay strategies. To determine patterns of prenatal cystic fibrosis (CF) screening and to explore the role of nonmaternal CF carrier screening. Maternal, fetal, and newborn records of women who had been offered prenatal screening for CF between lanuary 1987 and December 1991 were examined. Of 11,704 women who had been offered the test. 15.2% (1.941 of 12.905) actually underwent the test; 4.2% (489) were reported as non-carriers. Women referred themselves were more likely than those referred by their physicians to accept the test. Compared with women who received limited information, women receiving at least one maternal note were more likely to undergo screening (odds ratio [OR] 1.2; 95% confidence interval [CI] 1.1-1.3). Women requesting the test were more likely to undergo screening if they were called by the physician (OR 1.6; 95% CI 1.5-1.8), had been informed of CF by a physician (OR 1.5; 95% CI 1.4-1.7), had been screened in a previous pregnancy (OR 1.2; 95% CI 1.1-1.3), or had a first-degree relative with CF (OR 1.3; 95% CI 1.1-1.5). Only maternal carriers of CF requests screening. Although fetal findings do not change the recommended frequency of
