The authors studied the cognitive efficiency (CE) and functional status (FS) in 116 children aged 7 to 13 with acute and chronic bronchial asthma (BA), as well as in 40 children without this disease. The CE was assessed by the CPT (Conners' Continuous Performance Task) and the WISC-R (Wechsler Intelligence Scale-Revised). The FS was characterized using the PARS (Preschool Assessment of Risk) questionnaire and an interview with the child's parents. Children with chronic BA showed a significantly lower CE and poorer FS. Correlations between CE and FS were insignificant in both groups. Elyria — The bishop of the Diocese of Cleveland commended his colleagues and staff, but particularly the faithful of Elyria, Monday for their support and prayers. On the morning after an Ohio Supreme Court ruling struck down the state's ban on same-sex marriage, the diocese issued a statement following the action and included a recommendation from Bishop Joseph Zahrobski to support full marriage equality.
