What's new:

Megaforce Renegades are a flying bad guy that uses various glowing constructions to do their bidding, these aren't your typical Flying Robots known as Megabots, they are constructed using what appears to be objects pulled from nearby cyberspace. Megabots are mainly formed from smaller bizarre materials and serve no apparent purpose other than to rotate off screen and collect power up items for the Renegades on board. Although Megabots are functional, they are rarely seen doing anything other than hang around the hovering Renegade ships. Contents Zolt was prepared but not ready as he stood helplessly, and watched as another Decepticon becloaked. Kicking up sand at where it struck him, he watched it rise up, then open, and empty out a mechbot. Walt looked around to be sure nobody was listening, and casually said: "You mean a Flybot, don't you?" "Heh. Not a fly at all, a mechbot. Bit of a misnomer, actually" Looking around again, and brushing sand off his lunchbox, Kwik was confident that nobody was really listening. Gesturing with his chin towards the mechbot said: "It's like that robot in Fridge Logic when it picked over a pizza with a fork, except it uses hands and clothes." Walt picked his mop up off the ground and gave it a shake, then stared at it blankly. "Funny thing is, I think we're meeting up with one of the blue people." Flint walked up to them and gave the mechbot a kind of punch, then stood around it, and said in a low voice: "Think this thing's gonna work for me?" Kwik gave it a punch, because he's not very good at telling jokes. Zolt looked at Walt as he stuck his hand in Flint's
