For these items, Agent Bordelon did not have the warrant at the time of the search. After examining the photographs, Agent Bordelon determined that the vehicle was a late 1970s to early 1980s Nova and that Appellee was a female driving a vehicle matching the description contained in the warrant, specifically that it was a Nova with a red top and a "GR" insignia. He also testified to the contents of the inventory report that this warrant was being executed at an intersection, which is a DEA regulation, as well as that the report was mailed to the DEA agents (R.R. 11/29/16 at 7-8). The record supports a finding that Agent Bordelon had probable cause to search and seize any contraband in the vehicle he found. The trial court did not abuse its discretion or err in overruling Appellee's motion to suppress and admitting the Exhibit 5 into evidence. Additionally, even if Appellee had a privacy interest in the car, the State produced sufficient proof to establish a reasonable expectation of -5- J-S25023-18 privacy. The record shows that Appellee and her passengers were known methamphetamine users, that drugs were seen in the vehicle during the search and that no one was permitted to drive the vehicle after the search. The record also supports a finding that no one owned or leased the car. The record is clear that Agent Bordelon, whose testimony the trial court accepted, took extra precautions at the time of the search to protect Appellee's privacy by limiting the time and scope

Another thing I have always felt that if you cannot solve it, the best thing to do is to turn it over to someone who does know. It is from this attitude that I have derived my solution of the problems, though my solution is not always the same as yours may be. Perhaps you will accept my humble efforts as a contribution to your pleasure in learning chemistry, and thus repay me in the best way. A. F. Austin.Q: how can i change the background color of the cell depending on the value in the cell I am trying to change the background color of the cell according to the value in the cell in java I have a table with many rows and i am displaying the value of the cell in some other cell. But i want to change the cell background color. table = new JTable(model); table.setDefaultRenderer(Type.number, new NumberRenderer()); table.setDefaultRenderer(Type.string, new StringRenderer()); table.setDefaultRenderer(Type.double, new DoubleRenderer()); model.addColumn("Project Name"); model.addColumn("Source Type"); model.addColumn("Source Type"); model.addColumn("Quantity"); model.addColumn("Unit Price"); model.addColumn("Net Price"); model.addRow(new Object[] { "test", "Directive", 1, "", 0.0, 0.0 }); row.setBackground(Color.red); but it throws an exception, kindly help me A: The DefaultTableCellRenderer will only be called once, but if you want to highlight 6d1f23a050
