If you're looking for a torrent search engine that doesn't just search other search engines, but can send you to online sources such as social networks, IMDB, Amazon, YouTube, and the internet Archive, you'll want to use a specialized site such as Google or DuckDuckGo.com. However, a VPN still protects you from remote entities and companies like the NSA that can track you when you're surfing the web. One of the best torrent search engine software to keep you from getting DMCA'ed.

Another major drawback of using a torrent search engine website is that your searches become indexed by those search sites. When you search for copyrighted content on a website, chances are you're going to be prosecuted and charged for violating copyright laws. VPN is the perfect way to protect your identity and prevent the government from knowing what you're searching for online. We'll be using the Google Chrome plug-in we previously mentioned. Start Google Chrome with the downloaded code. When you go to the Google Chrome icon in your computer (Windows: Start>All Programs>Google Chrome>Google Chrome), then click the option to put the icon in the dock or on the taskbar (Windows: Go to the Chrome menu and select More Tools>Customize). Then, look for the text option on the right-hand side of the screen. Click it to add a tile to your Chrome window (Windows: Place the mouse pointer on the bar that says "My Tasks" or "Quick Tabs". Right-click on the pop-up menu that appears and then select Add). Finally, click on the Google Chrome icon to finish adding the icon to your Chrome window. If the Google icon is just too difficult to access, there's a keyboard shortcut to it: Press the Ctrl key (on Windows: Press the Ctrl key on the keyboard). Release the Ctrl key. Hold the Alt key and then press the Tab key (on Windows: Hold down the Alt key on the keyboard, and then press Tab). Release the Alt key, release the Tab key, and then double-click the Google Chrome icon (on Windows: Double-click on the Google Chrome icon).
